

Perceived importance of fundamental research to their government (developed nations)

